

What our Associate Members say

"Associate Membership of Community Energy Scotland has enabled us to increase our profile within the community sector. It has helped get our brand name out to a key area of our target market and resulted in a number of new clients."

Fraser Mackenzie, Director, Atmos Consulting.

"We find our Associate Membership to be of great benefit to the firm. Not only does it allow us to be part of a dynamic organisation, we are kept up to date with consultation responses, "good news" stories about community projects and we can join knowledge exchange community training sessions. It also provides a great platform with which to network with like-minded individuals within the renewable world." Anne Macdonald, Partner Harper Macleod LLP.

How do we join? It's a simple process.

To apply online visit

www.communityenergyscotland.org.uk/application-form.asp or call 01349 860122 for an application form.

Community Energy Scotland

membership@communityenergyscotland.org.uk

● North Office

2b Fodderty Way, Dingwall, IV15 9XB
01349 860126

● South Office

10 York Place, Edinburgh, EH1 3EP
0131 523 1301

● We also have staff based in the Scottish Borders, Glasgow, Dumfries and Galloway, the Western Isles, Perth and Orkney.

Add your company to our Business Directory

www.communityenergyscotland.org.uk/business-directory.asp

Community Energy Scotland is a company limited by guarantee with charitable status in Scotland

Scottish Charity SC039673
Registered Company Number SC333698

Associate Membership

Join Community Energy Scotland

Community Energy Scotland is Scotland's only national charity dedicated to supporting communities across Scotland to develop their own renewable energy projects.

www.communityenergyscotland.org.uk

Who are we?

For over 10 years, our team at Community Energy Scotland has supported more than 1500 community groups across Scotland. Through this Scotland-wide supportive network, communities continually share knowledge and experience to help them on the development path.

Associate Member Fees

What is our aim?

Community Energy Scotland's aim is to build confidence, resilience and wealth within communities across Scotland through sustainable energy development.

Why join Community Energy Scotland?

By joining Community Energy Scotland as an Associate Member, your company will reach a large number of community organisations.

This will result in additional market opportunities and will strengthen your brand amongst the community sector. Being an Associate Member will also help your company to develop a greater understanding of the community energy sector and how community energy projects develop. Community clients require to access technical, legal, financial and other professional services as they develop their energy projects so their awareness of the services you offer can lead to an increase in business for your company.

What's Associate Membership about?

Associate Membership is open to all businesses, public agencies, academic institutions and individuals who support our charitable aims. As an Associate Member, you will receive the following benefits:

- Automated notifications when tenders are first published on our website.
- Help to raise your profile within the community energy sector.
- Opportunity of joint bid for work as a partner with Community Energy Scotland.
- Your company's details and website listed on our online Business Directory.
- Monthly Members' Bulletin with news from across our Members' Network.
- Community Energy News, our regular newsletter.
- Opportunity to sponsor/discount on exhibition space at Community Energy Scotland conferences and events.
- Opportunity to support our Community Member training programme.

The annual fee for Associate Membership is based on your company's turnover and this fee ranges from £100 - £350.

Associate Membership Fee Rates

£0-25k	£100	£100,001 - £500k	£250
£25,001 - £50k	£150	£500,001 - £1m	£300
£50,001 - £100k	£200	£1m+	£350

